HOW WE USE INFORMATION

GreenPointe uses this information as part of our marketing research and analysis, and to improve our websites. GreenPointe also uses your Personal Information to determine other information that will be delivered to you that may be targeted to your interests, and what periodic marketing, promotional and other notices to provide to you.

We may disclose your Personal Information to our affiliates (i.e., companies that we own, we are owned by, or we are under common ownership with), to consultants and to other third parties with whom we have a business relationship. We may also disclose your Personal Information to third parties as we deem necessary or desirable to provide products and services that you have requested. We may also disclose your Personal Information as we believe is reasonably necessary to comply with law, regulation or other governmental authority. Finally, we may disclose your Personal Information upon a transfer or sale to another entity of all or a portion of our assets to which this Policy relates, or upon any other company reorganization.

Unless otherwise required by law, GreenPointe treats Personal information as non-confidential and non-proprietary. If GreenPointe is required by law to treat any of the Personal Information as confidential, we restrict access to the Personal Information to our employees and third parties who have a reasonable need to know that information and we maintain electronic safeguards to guard your Personal Information. We do not guarantee that these procedural safeguards will be effective in all circumstances. If you believe the security of any information or data you have shared with us has been compromised, please contact us at Gjames@greenpointellc.com.
